TECH JUNIOR DIES IN FRANTIC LEAP AS PLANE CRASHES

Gene Batson, 20, Killed Instantly; Jump From Spinning Ship Made at Too Low an Altitude for Parachute To Open.

MANY SEE TRAGEDY AT COLLEGE PARK

Fatal Spin Began Only 1,200 Feet in Air; Flyer, Native of Mississippi, Struck in Plowed Field.

Gene Batson, 20-year-old student flyer and a junior in the school of mechanical engineering at Georgia Tech, plunged to his death at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from a falling airplane in which he had been stunting. His parachute failed to open in time.

He struck face downward in a plowed field on the farm of J. W. Askew, three miles south of College Park. The body was buried a foot and a half in the field by the terrific force of the impact. The plane crashed about 100 feet away and was demolished.

Eye-witnesses expressed the belief that Batson waited too long to leap from the plane. Although equipped with a parachute, he did not leap, they said, until he was within about 150 feet of the ground. The chute opened just as Batson struck the field.

Spin Started Too Low. Observers who had been watching Batson's stunting from the airport at Candler field expressed the belief that the youth had begun his last spin-at too low an altitude, estimating that the plane was approximately 1,200 feet in the air at the time the pilot purposely put it into a spin.

C. L. Willbanks, of 814 South Main street, College Park, an employee of the city of College Park, was an eye-witness. Willbanks was on his way to the city shops with a tractor and was only several blocks away when the plane crashed.

"The plane was falling out of control," he said.

Cobb Says: Heroes Are Just Humans

By IRVIN S. COBB. (Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 24.—What with this and that, just when a fellow is almost ready to decide that the human race should be charged off as practically a total loss, something happens.

This time it happened in a little mine in Nova Scotia where the calm heroism of two men, panned with the body of their dead comrade at the bottom of a caved-in shaft, was matched by the magnificent gallantry, the incredible endurance of volunteer rescuers, who, by day and by night, unceasingly labored on in momentary peril of death for themselves to save the lives of that trapped pair—and did save them.

You read about such acts as these and the tears come in your eyes and you thank God for people—for just the ordinary every-day run of ordinary every-day people.

WEEK OF FESTIVAL WILL CLOSE TODAY

City Has Been Host to Hundreds of Visitors in First of Dogwood Fetes.

With the first annual Atlanta Dogwood festival drawing to a brilliant close today, Atlanta can look back over the week of celebration with an assurance that its annual event of beauty and gaiety will rival the flower festival of any city in the country.

Hundreds of thousands of citizens from other southern cities, Atlantans themselves have found top-ranking entertainment in the spectacular festival attractions and have enjoyed a pride in the city in making its first annual carnival of flowers so highly successful.

Opera Today. Following the presentation of "Aida" at the Fox theater last night by stars of the Metropolitan opera company, the week of celebration will close today with the presentation of "Carmen" at the Fox theater and "La Boheme" at the Metropolitan opera house.

But for those who are not operated, a diversified program of entertainment is being presented today.

Great Audience Thrilled by 'Aida,' Brilliantly Sung on Stage at the Fox

By MIZELLE HORTON YOUNG. Atlanta's operatic glory burst forth anew, with all the splendor, and glamour of the Metropolitan days, when each spring brought a marvelous season of the world's greatest opera, last night when the short season was opened with a magnificent production of "Aida" at the Fox theater. It was just as though the years of operatic emptiness had been spanned with a single string—the thread of thrilling presentations with Metropolitan stars who picked up just where it was left before—and the audience reacted with enthusiasm unbounded.

45,000 ETHIOPIANS LED BY RAS NASIBU BATTLING GRAZIANI

Daily Communique to Rome Announces City of Uorra Ilu, 38 Miles South of Dessye, Taken by Eritrean Column.

CAPTURED TOWN HELD IMPORTANT

Italians Now Predicting That African War Will End by May 3, Seven Months From Its Start.

By ANDRUE BERDING. ROME, April 24.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini's Roman Legions marched along the imperial highway toward Addis Ababa today at the same time the southern fascist army launched a big offensive against the important city of Sasa Baneh.

Troops of the northern army marching on the capital already hold important towns on the Dessye-Addis Ababa road.

At the same time an unconfirmed rumor in Rome was that King Victor Emmanuel would eventually be named emperor of Ethiopia as a tribute to the support of the royal house of Savoy has given the fascist war.

A battle is now under way on the southern front between defending Ethiopians led by Ras Nasibu, estimated to number 45,000, and Italian troops under the personal leadership of General Rodolfo Graziani. The outcome is regarded as crucial, since Sasa Baneh blocks the way to Harar.

The daily war communique announced an Eritrean column had taken Uorra Ilu, 60 kilometers (38 miles) south of Dessye on the road to the capital. This was interpreted to mean the advance guard is many miles ahead.

Important Center.

The occupation of Uorra Ilu was no resistance, which confirmed a previous belief the Ethiopians would make a last stand, if any, on the farther half of the road.

Progress by fascists on the southern front was also reported by Marshall Pietro Badoglio, commander-in-chief of the armies in Africa.

His communique, issued before dis-

ALLEN MADE GOVERNOR OF STATIONERS' REGION

Atlanta's Election Announced at Annual Banquet Here Last Night.

Election of Ivan Allen Jr., of Atlanta, as one of the governors of the fourth regional district of the National Stationers' Association, and the re-election of Morris Hensell, of New Orleans, to that post, was announced last night at the annual banquet at the Atlanta Athletic Club. New Orleans was chosen as the next convention city.

The convention, which opened Thursday morning, attracted more than 300 stationers and office out-fitters of the southern states. A varied business and social program was arranged for the delegates and their wives by the Atlanta entertainment committee.

C. P. Garvin, general manager of the national association, presided at the banquet which officially closed the convention. E. J. Brinkley, president of the national association, thanked the entertainment committee.

In behalf of visiting delegates, a dance and a floor show followed the dinner. Prizes were awarded winners in the golf tournament which was held yesterday afternoon. Frank Ryan, manufacturer's representative, won the prize for the gross net score, and Al Marshall, of Atlanta, won the prize for the low net score.

Dealers' problems and the relation between manufacturers, dealers and the public were the principal topics of discussion at the business sessions. Representatives of seven southeastern states reported on conditions in their respective states at one of the sessions. Activities of the association during 1935 were reviewed by Garvin.

MRS. LILLIE CALDWELL PASSES AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Lillie Fincher Caldwell, prominent member of the Cascade Avenue Methodist church, died yesterday afternoon at a private hospital.

She was 76 years of age, and lived at 989 Cascade avenue, S. W. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Julian M. Fluker, wife of the vice president of the Johnson-Pinker Company, candy manufacturers; Mrs. Ethel F. Timms and Mrs. Lillian F. Epps; a son, Horace L. Fincher, and several grandchildren and nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

ILLEGAL OPERATIONS REVEALED ON COAST

Three Persons Arrested in Effort To Smash Ring of Criminals.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—(AP) Dr. Charles B. Pinkham, secretary of the state medical board, disclosed in amazing detail today the activities of what he said was a highly organized coast-wide ring of doctors and laymen performing criminal operations to prevent childbirth. Three arrests have been made.

He declared the ring was directed by a leader in Los Angeles, through whom offices were rented, soliciting agents operated, and money distributed in a wide circle to organize and protect the "rich source of revenue."

Among nine west coast cities, he said, doctors were shuttled often under fictitious names and rapidly enough so gathering of evidence has been difficult.

For more than a year the state board of medical examiners has been investigating. Dr. Pinkham said three men were under arrest and charged with conspiracy to perform illegal operations. They were trapped through a woman investigator who was directed to them through a beauty shop.

Doctors were made when consulting prospective patients, the medical official declared, and this fact, together with natural reluctance of the women involved to testify, made gathering of evidence slow work.

DUNAWAY GARDENS ATTRACTED MANY

Out-of-State Visitors View Attractive Newnan Estate During Week.

Hundreds of visitors to the Dogwood Festival, representing 20 states, have registered at the Dunaway Gardens since the fête opened last Sunday.

The gardens will remain open through tomorrow from 11 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night. The admission fee of 50 cents is shared with the festival fund.

Motorists with license tags from far western and eastern states have enjoyed the hillside of the Sewell estates, embracing the famous Hettie Jane Dunaway gardens.

Among the features of the gardens are the garden totem pole, honey-moon house, cascades of rock garden, lily pools and the Colony theater.

HONDURAN FEDERALS TWICE ROUT REBELS

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 24.—(AP)—The presence of a revolt in Honduras was admitted by the government today when it claimed victory in two battles, one with the use of airplanes.

A communiqué said four military planes bombed rebel forces while the latter were engaged in battle with infantry troops and that the insurgents then fled into Nicaragua, leaving many slain comrades behind.

Another rebel group, said the government, which has been in the mountains of the Olancha district, under the command of Juan Blas Paguaga, was completely routed.

20 PERSONS INJURED IN CLASH OF STRIKERS

Most of Those Hurt Are Women in Savage Hair-Pulling.

COSHOCOTON, Ohio, April 24.—(UP)—At least 20 persons, mostly women, were injured tonight in savage hair-pulling clashes between union and non-union employees of the Indianapolis Glove Company plant.

Five hundred strikers and union sympathizers, including husky coal miners and garment workers from miles around, met a group of non-strikers coming from the factory. A sharp argument broke suddenly into general street fighting, with strikers tossing rotten eggs and using their fists.

Police said most of those injured were members of the Independent Glove Workers' Association, the group favoring resumption of operations at the plant. Several were treated by physicians for bad bruises and cuts.

One of the casualties, officers said, was Mrs. Gladys Bordenkirker, militant leader of the non-strikers. She was among the 45 women and five men who early today forced entrance into the plant and worked through the day in defiance of pickets.

Shortly before midnight, the crowd dwindled to fewer than 100. However, the strikers, who walked out a month ago protesting a 20 per cent wage reduction, planned to keep a guard in the vicinity of the plant all night.

For the first time in the history of the organization, two former Bethesda boys were elected officers. They are H. M. Carter, vice president, and Eugene Torrance, secretary.

UNEMPLOYED REFUSE TO LEAVE N. J. CAPITOL

Jobless To Continue Stay in Chamber If Relief Is Not Provided.

TRENTON, N. J., April 24.—(AP) The band of unemployed which has held control of the New Jersey assembly's chamber continuously since Tuesday afternoon resolved tonight not to surrender the chamber to the lawmakers Monday night unless they promise to find relief money immediately.

The resolution was adopted after Ray Cooke, secretary of the Workers' Alliance, reported a group of legislative leaders meeting in Newark had decided against passing any new tax measures when the legislature returns from its six-day adjournment Monday night.

"Be it resolved," read the resolution adopted in a roar of voices, "that unless the legislature contemplate providing food for the unemployed when it returns to the chamber we shall retain possession of this chamber."

Cooke told the 200-odd shabby men and women that "if the assembly doesn't intend to do anything about feeding our starving children when it comes back to this chamber, then I don't see why they should be allowed to come back here."

He said the worst that can happen to us is to be thrown in jail, and there the state must feed us."

FINLEY P. DUNNE CLAIMED BY DEATH

Author of Famous "Mr. Dooley" Stories Was 68 Years Old.

NEW YORK, April 24.—(AP)—Finley Peter Dunne, 68, author of the famous Mr. Dooley stories, died of cancer tonight after a long illness.

He died in his room at the Delmonico hotel where he had lived since coming east five months ago for treatment.

Only his physicians were with him at the time of his death. His widow, and his sons were immediately notified at their homes in Hollywood, Cal.

A native of Chicago, Dunne was educated in the public schools of that city and at St. Ignace college, Chicago. In 1892 he went to the Chicago Evening Post, remaining there for three years.

The supreme court held the proposed procedure to be unconstitutional, and also found that Duval county circuit court erred in refusing an injunction prohibiting operation of the plant. The injunction suit was brought by Sol Brash against the PWA. Brash appealing from the denial of the injunction.

The legislature had appropriated $200,000 to be applied on the cost of the hospital as part of the state institutional improvement program.

SAVANT IS CONDUCTING BREAST CANCER PROBE

'Anti-Hormones' Cause of Disease in Women, French Scientist Avers.

CHICAGO, April 24.—(AP)—Science is probing a new channel in research aimed at preventing breast cancer in women. Dr. Antoine Lacassagne, assistant biological director of the Curie Institute of the University of Paris, said during a recent visit to Chicago.

The key to the problem, he said, may be hormones and the negative substances there is evidence to show they all possess, which have been termed anti-hormones.

Experiments on scientifically bred mice at the institute indicated that breast cancer was hereditary in the subjects and that the disease could be caused—even in moles—by the hormone, oestrogen, which is responsible for the development of the breast, the French savant said.

"There is reason to hope that continued research will point to certain types of anti-hormones being used in women with a strong cancerous strain and that such treatment would so regulate the disturbed hormone equilibrium as to prevent the appearance of breast cancer," he added.

The great importance of this field was indicated, he said, by the fact that cancer is second in cause of death among European women and that breast cancer leads all other forms in female victims.

Anti-hormones are being intensively studied in laboratories over the world at the present time.

"Science," said the visiting biologist, "must know more about them before success can be claimed in using them in cancer prevention."

"But the most hopeful side of the cancer problem is prevention. All our research work points to that," he added.

The French scientist who has been studying hormonal strains in hundreds of mice, is speaking at a number of the leading American universities on his findings during his current tour of America.

ART OF PACKAGING HIKES RETAIL SALES

Streamlining of Locomotives Cited as Example of Advanced Idea.

NEW YORK, April 24.—(AP)—American industry has discovered that the same old bologna wrapped in a package designed by an artist and an engineer sells twice as fast.

"The old bologna," of course, is a generic term for any commodity and covers everything from locomotives to lipsticks.

Importance of the packaging industry is indicated in a survey by D. E. A. Charlton, editor of the magazine, Modern Packaging, which disclosed a 10 per cent increase during 1935 in the total business of the entire industry to an estimated $4,400,000,000, close to the best year on record.

Railroads dramatized their sales talks by doing up their locomotives in a streamlined package. Although both the artist and the engineer collaborated, the influence of the artist is more evident. Automobile manufacturers followed suit.

Liquor manufacturers did the same thing. One maker of beer and another producer of whisky decided their products were better than others on the market. The only way they could tell the public, aside from actual words, was by designing a new package which actually made the products look better. Sales increased.

Long ago the manufacturers of things for the kitchen hired high-priced designers to make pots and pans and such look like something turned out by Leonard Da Vinci. Sales increased.

In 1931 Modern Packaging inaugurated an annual contest for the best packages—best from many standpoints, including design, utility and sales appeal.

The boys in the trade fight hard for the awards. One smart manufacturer put out a bottle which didn't gurgle when his product was poured out. Furthermore, it didn't splash. He got a prize.

An artist was called in by another corporation which wanted a new design for its package. A new container is fairly easy to design, but in this particular case—and in thousands of others—the maker had spent millions of dollars on advertising over the years, and the public was familiar with the old friendly package.

The problem was to make a new jacket which would retain characteristics of the old and heavily advertised package. It was done; sales increased.

PRISONER HITS OFFICER AS CHARGES BOOKED

John M. Curry, 32, of 482 Semihole avenue, last night objected to the charges of intoxication, reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident being lodged against him by Patrolman J. M. Jones and as a result found additional cases of disorderly conduct and striking an officer booked.

The arrested man slapped Jones in the lieutenant's office as the charges were being docketed.

He had been arrested following a minor accident, in which no one was injured, at Forrest avenue and Peachtree street. The other automobile was operated by Israel Pierce, negro. Bond of $400 was placed against Curry.

2 NEW STATE MARKETS WILL BE OPENED MAY 1

Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder said yesterday that two additional state operated markets, at Valdosta and Thomasville, have been completed and will be opened on May 1.

The commissioner said that the markets were built in co-operation with the cities and counties. He added that the market at Gainesville also had been finished but would not be opened immediately.

In another statement concerning the Atlanta market, the commissioner said that of a total cost of $75,000 more than $31,000 had been paid and the unpaid balance was $44,000. The newly-completed markets at Valdosta and Thomasville cost $20,000 each.

PLANS ARE HALTED FOR FLORIDA HOSPITAL

$600,000 Tuberculosis Institution Was Planned for Orlando.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 24.—(UP)—The state administration plans for a $600,000 tuberculosis hospital at Orlando were halted today by a supreme court ruling which held that the state cannot, without violating the state constitution, pledge state credit in borrowing money from the federal government. Bids were to be received next Thursday by the state on construction of the hospital.

The state tuberculosis board had planned to mortgage the building to be erected and borrow the funds from the PWA to build the sanitarium. The board also had planned to pledge hospital revenue to help the loan.

The supreme court held the proposed procedure to be unconstitutional, and also found that Duval county circuit court erred in refusing an injunction prohibiting operation of the plant. The injunction suit was brought by Sol Brash against the PWA. Brash appealing from the denial of the injunction.

The legislature had appropriated $200,000 to be applied on the cost of the hospital as part of the state institutional improvement program.

'Anti-Hormones' Cause of Disease in Women, French Scientist Avers.

CHICAGO, April 24.—(AP)—Science is probing a new channel in research aimed at preventing breast cancer in women. Dr. Antoine Lacassagne, assistant biological director of the Curie Institute of the University of Paris, said during a recent visit to Chicago.

The key to the problem, he said, may be hormones and the negative substances there is evidence to show they all possess, which have been termed anti-hormones.

Experiments on scientifically bred mice at the institute indicated that breast cancer was hereditary in the subjects and that the disease could be caused—even in moles—by the hormone, oestrogen, which is responsible for the development of the breast, the French savant said.

"There is reason to hope that continued research will point to certain types of anti-hormones being used in women with a strong cancerous strain and that such treatment would so regulate the disturbed hormone equilibrium as to prevent the appearance of breast cancer," he added.

The great importance of this field was indicated, he said, by the fact that cancer is second in cause of death among European women and that breast cancer leads all other forms in female victims.

Anti-hormones are being intensively studied in laboratories over the world at the present time.

"Science," said the visiting biologist, "must know more about them before success can be claimed in using them in cancer prevention."

"But the most hopeful side of the cancer problem is prevention. All our research work points to that," he added.

RANTIN AND RICHARDS RESIGN POLICE POSTS

free hand to act as he chooses regardless of whether the other resignations are handed in voluntarily or not. Rantin's resignation was tendered by resignation from the 1936 police committee of general council, unconditionally," it said.

In his letter of resignation, Richards said:

"I hereby tender to you my resignation as a member of the police committee of city council to take effect immediately, or at such time as you designate."

"I am submitting my resignation in order that you may have a free hand in reorganizing the committee for the good of the police department."

Key's conference with the three committee members—Couch, Richards and Rantin—was brief, and he said he would withhold comment or announcement of further plans until the entire committee resigns, or the situation takes another definite turn.

The last assertion was taken to mean that if the committee fails to act of its own volition, he will take definite action on his own initiative.

"From the point of view of things at present I cannot say anything about whom will appoint to the new committee if it is put up to me to do so," Key said.

Bridges was unmoved yesterday when informed of the resignation of Richards and Rantin.

"What they do is no concern of mine," he added, "I have not yet decided what I will do and will not until after I have conferred with the mayor."

If Bridges should resist the appointment of a new committee in event the present committee chairman refused to resign, it was pointed out that the resort to the courts to keep him at the helm of the department.

Chief T. O. Sturdivant yesterday declined to comment on the possibility that there might be two police committees claiming jurisdiction and authority over the police department.

"I'll cross that bridge when I get to it," Sturdivant said.

If the committee headed by Bridges sought to retain its control over the department, and Key should appoint a new committee, the question might properly arise which one the police department would recognize while the court battle is in progress.

There, however, is no lack of understanding or co-operation between Sturdivant and Key, and it was predicted that Sturdivant would recognize any committee the mayor might appoint whether or not, a legal question as to the mayor's right to designate another group were involved.

position of Reichsfuehrer Hitler and avoid generalities, the question might properly arise which one the police department would recognize while the court battle is in progress.

Premier Albert Sarraut called the French cabinet together to discuss measures to maintain order in the capital and country during the voting. In addition to the ministers, members of the cabinet, the French heads of the Paris police and surete nationale, the French "Scotland Yard," attended.

One threat to public order during the celebration of the leftist labor day was removed when a strike which would have called upon 150,000 miners to lay down their tools was called off. The walkout was originally called for May 1.

The balloting Sunday will complete only the first stage of the chamber elections, with 612 places to be filled. To win in the first vote, a candidate must obtain more than half the votes in his district. For those candidates who fail to achieve the necessary majority, run-off elections will be held May 3.

OPERA WILL FEATURE FETE PRESENTATIONS

entertainment, such as has been found in the schedule during the entire week, will continue today.

Tech Track Meet.

Old college rivalry will flare up at Grant field at 2 o'clock this afternoon as Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt University engage in a track and field meet, with dash and distance races, hurdles, discus, shotput and other sports on the program.

The second game of the present series between the Atlanta Crackers and the Knoxville Smokies will begin at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Ponce de Leon park.

The first game of the series between the Southern league rivals was played here yesterday afternoon.

Other regular features of the festival will continue throughout the day and will include an art exhibit at the High Museum of Art, Sheriff Jake Hill's Dogwood Farm near Pantherville, the carnival, and other sports on the program.

Sight-seeing tours with coaches leaving the downtown business section at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, will add visits to several of Atlanta's famous gardens to its scheduled route covering points of interest about the city. The gardens of Preston S. Arkwright, P. O. Stone, Cator Woolford and Robert L. Cooney will be included in the tour.

Sheriff Hill's Farm.

Peace and quiet or laughter and hilarity may be indulged in today, according to the choice of the audiences. After a tour of gardens and other show places about the city a trip to genial Sheriff Hill's Dogwood Farm, near Pantherville, will present a spectacle of idyllic beauty and quiet which should be enjoyed particularly by those who have participated in the fast-moving round of entertainments of the week.

And then for a quick return to fun-making and celebration, Lakewood park waits with its rides, shows and carnival atmosphere.

One of the most beautiful of the many presentations of the Dogwood Festival Week was "The Enchanted Garden," presented last Tuesday by the Lullwater Garden Club at its Conservation Garden on Lullwater road. A scheduled repeat performance of the dance fantasy was cut short because of inclement weather and the second showing was postponed until Wednesday night, when it will be given at the Druid Hills High school.

"The Enchanted Garden."

"The Enchanted Garden" included more than 200 beautifully costumed dancers. Although the natural background of growing dogwood and azaleas which made the initial presentation such an enchanting spectacle will be lacking Wednesday night, but the school auditorium stage will be appropriately decorated and lead a woodland air to the dance fantasy.

Florrie Margaret Guy is queen of "The Enchanted Garden," her maid of honor is Jennie Dale and the attendants include Ann Garrett, Betty Jackson, Mary Alice Clark, Jeannette Estess, Marion Walker, Martha Jordan, Lois Partridge, Emma Sue Chandler, Ruth Connor, Dorothy Giddings and Elizabeth Johns.

NEW RECORD SEEN

Flyer Is Believed To Have Set Altitude Mark.

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., April 24.—(P)—A new altitude record for light aircraft appeared certain this afternoon to have been attained here by Ben King, Washington, test pilot. King flew his 438-pound Aeromac monoplane to a height which was unofficially estimated by Nathan F. Scudder, official of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, at from 18,000 to 19,000 feet.

The present record, 17,087 feet, is held by France and has stood about five years. To set a new record King must have exceeded the present mark by 200 meters, or 656 feet.

Two barographs were carried on the flight, one of which was sent to the Bureau of Standards in Washington for calibration. Scudder made an unofficial calibration of the other and said the mark ran off the paper shortly after the 19,000-foot mark. He expressed certainty that King had attained at least 18,000 feet and probably over 19,000.

W. A. SWIFT, 64, DIES

AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

ELBERTON, Ga., April 24.—W. A. Swift, 64, died here this morning after a short illness.

He was the eldest son of the late Thomas M. Swift and is survived by one sister, Mrs. T. J. Hallyburton, Atlanta, and two brothers, J. Y. and T. M. Swift Jr., of Elberton.

The so-called "dry" sand of the Hawaiian islands receives about 30 inches of rain a year, while the "wet" phase receives 100 or more inches.

Colorful Story of Opera 'Carmen'

By MOZELLE HORTON YOUNG.

"Carmen," that fascinating and colorful opera that grows more popular as time goes on, the music written by Georges Bizet, the words by Henri Meilhac and Ludovic Halévy, taken from the novel by Prosper Merimee, will be the final presentation of Atlanta's opera season tonight at the Fox theater. It received its first production at the Opera Comique, Paris, in 1875. Its first performance in the United States was in October of 1878 at the Academy of Music, New York. It was revived at the Metropolitan Opera House during the season of 1927-28, with Johnson and Jeriza, and since that time it has been one of the most popular operas on the Met schedule each season.

Three months after Carmen was first produced, Bizet died, entirely depressed and discouraged by the failure of his work, and without any idea of the world-wide success it was later to achieve. In this work Bizet definitely proved himself a master of musical drama through his sure, deft touches, in this mighty and steady crescendo of emotion.

FIRST ACT.

The first act opens on a square in Seville. It is the noon hour and the square is filled with townsfolk and girls from the cigar factory and soldiers from the guardhouse. There is a little ceremony of the change of the guard. In the midst of all the activity a timid girl comes hunting a soldier by the name of Don Jose.

After the ceremony some of the soldiers tell Jose of his little guest and he tells them she is his sweetheart. While he is sitting thinking of her a coquette and fascinating girl, Carmen, enters. She sings and flirts with the soldiers and finally centers her flirtation toward Jose, who remains indifferent. As she sings she tells him a rose, and after the crowd has dispersed he picks it up and places it in his blouse over his heart. Carmen returns and brings him news and money from home and his mother. After Carmen has departed there are screams from the factory and the girls rush out with the news that Carmen has quarreled with and stabbed another girl. The officers of the guard leave Jose to guard Carmen. She, through her coquette behavior, gets him to loosen the knots of the rope around her wrists and as the guard goes to take her away she flees.

SECOND ACT.

The second act takes place at the inn of Lillias Pastia. Gypsy trinket sellers and officers and soldiers have been having a dinner and everything is in confusion. Carmen for a while looks on at the gaudy, ignoring the attentions of Zuniga, an officer, but suddenly rises and sings a song of gypsy life to the accompaniment of her castanets and dancing. An officer tells her that Don Jose has been released from prison. Suddenly Escamillo, the toreador, is announced and hailed as a hero, for he has been victorious in a bull fight. Carmen is very much fascinated by this handsome hero, but she still has her heart for Don Jose. After the crowd has gone she remains to welcome Jose when he comes. She entertains him with her dancing, but soon the bugle is heard, summoning all soldiers back to quarters. Carmen tries to persuade Jose to stay, to turn traitor, and live the gypsy life with her. He is wavering between his duty and his love for Carmen, when Zuniga enters and the two men find themselves in a jealous duel. Because he has insulted a superior officer Jose now has no choice but to desert and go with Carmen.

ACT THREE.

Act three shows a beautiful scene in the heart of the mountains. The smugglers are gathering at their meeting places. Carmen and Jose are among them. Jose is very unhappy, and Carmen suggests that he leave her. Horrified at the idea, Jose tells her that he repeats such a thing he will kill her. At that moment two friends, who are playing at card games, cry, "Spades!—A grave!" The company departs, leaving Jose to guard the mountain pass. Unseen at first by Jose, Escamillo comes over the pass. Escamillo appears. Thinking him an enemy Jose fires, but misses him. As he draws nearer, however, they recognize each other, two rivals, and there follows a desperate fight, interrupted by the return of the gypsies who have heard the shot. Escamillo finally persuades Jose to return to his dying mother with her.

FOURTH ACT.

Act four is in the square just outside the arena of the bull ring in Seville. There is an excited and gaily dressed crowd, for Escamillo is to participate in the sports again. A tremendous shout is heard as the toreador enters with Carmen on his arm, stunningly dressed. Escamillo takes leave of her at the gate, vowing that he will make her proud of him. Two friends approach and warn her to leave, that Jose is hiding there. But fearlessly she meets her jealous lover. Jose begs her to leave with him, and tells her that he still adores him, but she coldly tells him she loves him no longer. A sudden clamor from the gates announces that Escamillo is again the victor. Carmen leaps forward with joy. Don Jose, watching her, and driven insane with jealousy, bars her way. She tries to free herself. There is a dagger's flash—and Carmen falls lifelessly. Realizing what he has done, Don Jose bends over her form, crying in passionate tones, "Carmen—Carmen—I loved you!"

BRILLIANT AUDIENCE HEARS 'AIDA' AT FOX

role, portraying the part of the Ethiopian slave girl with glorious voice and subtle understanding of the character, gentle and retiring and submissive, but intensely emotional. Her voice, though not as large as we usually hear in the role, possesses quality of utmost beauty, soaring with easy lyric skill, true and flawlessly beautiful. She sang with superlative feeling, vocally and histrionically. It was in this same role that Giannini made her debut with the Met in New York the season creating a sensation which brought her a welcome into the company of great enthusiasm. Atlanta was fortunate to hear a "duet" of the century, the night of her singing in the third act, the Nile scene, was some of the most superb of the entire performance, and she was recalled time and again after the act.

Martinielli Gets Ovation.

Giovanni Martinielli received an ovation from the scores of Atlanta friends welcoming him back, and it seemed to bring joy and inspiration to him, for he sang as if his whole heart and soul were pouring forth to his audience through his voice. His singing last night was unforgettable. His rendition of the gorgeous aria "Celeste Aida," for which he has long been famous, was a dramatic and artistic gem of perfection. His acting was imbued with fiery emotion, and he, supreme artist that he is, carried his audience along in clear appreciation of his role.

And Giannini joined voices and inspiration to make the final scene, in the death tomb, one of intense pathos and at the same time, ecstasy. Her singing of "La Fatal Pietra," (The Fatal Stone), "Mori! Si Pura e Bella!" (To Die! So Pure and Lovely!), and that last entrancing melody, "Terza Adieu" (Farewell, Oh Earth), were all exquisite melodies that will remain vivid.

Artes Praised.

Dreda Artes, who also had previously made hosts of friends in Atlanta by her excellent singing and acting, received a sincere welcome, well deserved, for her superlative acting and singing contributed in large measure to the success of the performance. Her voice is one of richness and power and beauty, and she employed it with such cleverness that she immediately won a high place in the admiration of the audience. And her portrayal of the character of Amneris, the king's daughter, clearly outshone her jealousy and haughty attitude in clever acting.

Another star of the cast, also a star of the Met, who completely won his audience with his glorious beauty of his voice was Carlo Morelli, baritone, in the part of Amonasso, Aida's father. Morelli's voice possesses a richness and fulness and beauty of tone that was outstandingly fine. His singing of the role not only revealed his vocal ability, but also his sense of the dramatic, and he also understands the art of acting.

Nino Ruisi, bass-baritone, another who returns to Atlanta audiences as the king's brother, was also a star of the Met, who has before won distinction, singing the role of Ramfis, high priest, though not a role of as great demands as the others, brought to it his voice, backed by his fine artistry, and claimed his share of the honors of the evening.

Ballet Fascinating.

The ballet, arranged and directed by Mildred Schneider, premiere danseuse of the Metropolitan, presented the incidental dances with oriental charm and fascinating dance patterns. His authoritative and inspiring beton led the cast of soloists, chorus and orchestra in a presentation that moved nicely to a perfect whole. The chorus was well trained, and knew their cues, making good attacks, and joining into the spirit of inspiration with fine cooperation. The orchestra formed an accompanying ensemble that furnished just the right support.

There will be two performances today, the matinee this afternoon, which begins at 2 o'clock, will present Pae-

King Edward Visits Married Soldiers

LONDON, April 24.—(P)—Great Britain's bachelor king paid a surprise visit today to the married quarters of the Coldstream guards at Windsor.

Following a formal inspection of the first battalion, his majesty, in review order dress, expressed a wish to see the sergeants' mess and the married quarters.

In the sergeants' mess he found Mrs. Syrett, wife of Sergeant Major Syrett, preparing dinner. After apologizing for the "intrusion," the king chatted with Mrs. Syrett for some minutes.

"I shall be apportioning lunch if I stay longer," he said in bidding good-bye.

TRIAL DATE SCHEDULED FOR CHARLES LUCIANO

NEW YORK, April 24.—(P)—Charles "Lucky" Luciano, New York's reputed vice king, and 12 accused as his henchmen remained under prohibitive bail totaling $1,075,000 to-night after the supreme court set May 13 for the start of their trial on charges of compulsory prostitution.

The 13 prisoners were rearraigned today under a new indictment, containing 90 counts. The indictment permits them to be tried as a group under the recently enacted statute permitting the joinder of a series of related offenses in a single true bill. Luciano's bail was continued at $350,000, with lesser amounts set for the other 12.

TECH STUDENT KILLED AS AIRPLANE CRASHES

Willbanks said. "It started by falling tail first and then the nose came down."

"When it was about 150 feet from the ground I saw the pilot jump. He struck the ground with his face and stomach and was buried. The parachute opened just as he hit and the plane crashed about a hundred feet away."

"I got there as quickly as I could, but he was dead when they lifted him from the ground and rolled him over on his back. It looked like every bone in his body was broken."

The plane, a Fleet biplane, powered by a 100-H. P. Kenner motor, had been rented by Batson from Air Service, Inc., at Candler field. The youth had a student's permit to fly, company officials said.

He left Candler field at about 4:15 o'clock, gained considerable altitude and then began practicing spins and other maneuvers. Experienced pilots expressed the belief that Batson may not have realized how much altitude he had lost and may not have realized that he was too low to attempt another spin.

The time of the accident was fixed at 5:30 o'clock by Willbanks, who said that he had left work at 5 o'clock and was on his way to the College Park city shops with his tractor when the crash occurred.

Wiley Wright, aeronautics inspector for the Department of Commerce, is out of town and an investigation into the crash was conducted by an airlines inspector of the department, who happened to be in Atlanta. No official comment was made pending a report of his findings to Washington officials.

Had 60 Hours in Air.

Attaches at the airport said that Batson had been flying for about a year and a half and had approximately 60 hours flying time.

Asked and several other eye-witnesses on nearby farms said they believed the plane's motor had failed.

Batson's home was in Milard, Miss. He was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity at Tech and resided in the new Techwood dormitory.

His parents were notified of the tragedy last night and wired that they would reach Atlanta this morning. The body was removed in the meantime to the mortuary of Donehoo-Brandon pending the completion of funeral arrangements.

vide enough revenue, but added that the house measure, or one with its "general purpose," would be approved by his committee.

The senate committee today heard L. H. Parker, head of the joint congressional tax committee, explain the major features of the house legislation.

With republicans catching up on the time allotted them for debate, most of the day's house discussion was in opposition. As the afternoon wore on, a group of nearly 33 members was sticking it out on the house floor, and some were reading newspapers.

Bill Is Vague.

Representative Reed, republican, New York, remarked that the bill was so vague that not 5 per cent of the house membership could agree on how it would work in actual operation.

Occasionally the argument would drift into the field of politics and first a republican, then a democrat would raise a point of order that speakers were not confining their remarks to the bill—unlike the situation in 1932 when the committee recommended Jonett Shouse for the permanent chairmanship only to have Senator Walsh, of Montana, elected.

Consider Its Merits.

He pleaded with the membership to consider the bill on its merits instead of on partisan grounds, adding that he wanted a bill that would bring in even more money. He could not reconcile himself, he said, to legislation which he believed would mean "destruction of the business interests of this country."

Urging economy in government instead of new taxes, Representative Woodruff, republican, Michigan, rapped sharply at the resolute administration as an example of "profligate waste in the administration."

years ago. Present, also, will be many state and national party leaders.

Roosevelt Has Cold.

Bothered by what his aide described as a slight head cold, the President remained away from his office today and kept to the main part of the White House to prepare his speech.

At Philadelphia tomorrow, the selection of other convention officers and work on the heap of details that accumulates before any national party gathering will occupy the arrangements committee after it decides whom to recommend for the temporary and permanent chairmanships.

In democratic circles here there was a general prediction that the committee's recommendations would be followed by the convention without a fight—unlike the situation in 1932 when the committee recommended Jonett Shouse for the permanent chairmanship only to have Senator Walsh, of Montana, elected.

Senator Robinson, who has steered the Roosevelt legislative program through the senate, was permanent chairman of the 1928 convention. Senator Barkley was keynoter at the 1932 convention.

Mr. Roosevelt will leave here tomorrow afternoon by special train for his New York speech.

Leap From Spinning Plane Is Fatal to Georgia Tech Student

'BUCK PASSING' IS HIT BY DR. HARVEY COX

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 24. (AP)—Three cures to save the civilization of the United States—aristocracy, responsibility and a rebirth of democracy—were advocated by the editor of Time magazine, the president of Emory University and an editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal at the University of Chattanooga semi-centennial celebration today.

Dr. Harvey W. Cox, president of Emory University, Atlanta, speaking on education and human welfare, asserted education must induce people into regaining the freedom they are surrendering "all over the world" for "a welfare that's not human" and "false social security" that is attained by "passing the buck."

MAN IS BADLY BEATEN IN MYSTERIOUS ATTACK

Beaten by two unknown assailants in a mysterious attack at Marietta and Curran streets, N. W., Walter Burdette, 44, of a Foster place address, was taken to Grady hospital in serious condition at about 8:30 o'clock last night.

He suffered a severely lacerated scalp and a possible fractured skull when he was struck with a piece of tile.

Mrs. Daisy Quarrells, of 881 Marietta street, told police she heard a quarrel at the corner. She investigated and found Burdette lying on the sidewalk and saw two white men fleeing on foot.

Police could not question Burdette due to his condition. He will be questioned today.

KINSHIP HELD BAR TO CARNEGIE AWARD

GOVERNEUR, N. Y., April 24. (AP)—The Carnegie hero fund commission said today that acts of heroism prompted by close relationship do not constitute eligibility for its awards.

It refused a Carnegie medal for 6-year-old Frederick Boshart Jr., who saved two baby sisters, 1 and 2 years old, when their home burned February 28. He was badly burned.

Gouverneur and Watertown residents asked the commission to award him the medal.

FRANCE WILL SHIP MORE GOLD TO U. S.

NEW YORK, April 24. (AP)—The first outflow of gold from France to the United States since the current period of weakness in the French franc developed earlier in the week was reported today when New York banks engaged $7,115,000 in gold from the Bank of France for immediate shipment.

With the franc at 6.58 3-8 cents, where it ruled unchanged today, a small profit can be made on the transaction.

ANOTHER CLOUDY DAY FORECAST FOR ATLANTA

Clouds will continue to be an overhanging threat to Atlanta today. It will be warm, but no rain is in sight.

Chief Forecaster George W. Mindling, of the United States Weather Bureau, predicted that the temperatures today will range between 50 and 60 degrees.

Temperatures yesterday reached 71 degrees at 3 o'clock.

WOOD IS NAMED HEAD OF BAR ASSOCIATION

CANTON, Ga., April 24. (AP)—John S. Wood, of Canton, was elected president of the Blue Ridge Circuit Bar Association at a meeting here tonight to succeed Roscoe Pickett, of Jasper.

A. J. Henderson, of Canton, was elected vice president and J. V. Carmichael, of Marietta, secretary.

The association endorsed Judge W. F. Jenkins for the Georgia supreme court and pledged support to a bill to incorporate the bar and a plan for rotation of judges.

who participated in the arduous fight to save Robertson and Scadding.

Michael Dwyer, minister of mines, who was asked to designate the recipients, said the man who cut timber in the woods for props is entitled to as much credit as the other rescuers.

"All played their desperate parts in the rescue and all will share the funds," he said.

The rescuers' fund has reached $22,489 in Toronto alone.

Dwyer disclosed that the men were rescued just in time early yesterday because the roof of the gold mine was settling slowly.

"I am absolutely satisfied that today we could not have gotten into it as the narrow opening to the tomb of the two men sagged six inches after they were taken out," he said. "By the end of the week the whole structure of the mine will be crushed completely."

While Robertson and Scadding were receiving treatment, the body of their companion, Herman Magill, was en route to Toronto for burial. The Toronto attorney died in mine early Monday.

Magill was in Dr. Robertson's arms when he died and the surgeon was given much credit for aiding Scadding to keep alive.

THREE NEGROES HELD IN STREET CAR HOLDUP

Two negro youths were arrested last night following the signing of an alleged confession by a third negro youth who named them as participants in the recent holdup of a street car operator.

According to Detectives H. L. Sexton and F. W. Roper, and E. S. Acree and V. H. Elaberry, Georgia Power Company investigators, James Yarden, 19, of a Sunset avenue address, signed the confession when he was arrested Thursday night.

He implicated James Johnson, 21, and Robert Martin, 23, both of Dunkirk street addresses, in the holdup on the night of April 6 of C. H. Vaughn street car operator, at Magnolia and Griffin streets, in which $10 was taken.

All were booked on charges of suspicion of robbery.

LATIN EXAMINATIONS WILL BE HELD TODAY

22 Finalists in Georgia Tournament To Compete for Scholarships.

Twenty-two finalists representing the fifth district in the Georgia Latin tournament will gather at Washington Seminary at 10 o'clock this morning for final examinations. Finals will be given simultaneously in 11 other cities. Contestants were selected as the result of competitive examinations given in their respective schools. The tournament is being conducted by the Classical Association with the co-operation of the Georgia Association of Colleges.

The grand prize will be a choice of one-year scholarships offered by Emory University, Agnes Scott, Brenau, Shorter and Wesleyan Colleges. In addition, eight medals and $70 in cash prizes are offered. Tests will be under the direction of district chairmen and will last for two and a half hours. Miss Estelle Martin, of Washington Seminary, is chairman of the fifth district. Papers will be graded by a committee appointed by the central committee. Winners will be announced by the central committee and its decision will be final.

Members of the central committee include Dr. Lillian S. Smith, of Agnes Scott; Miss Annabel Horn, of Girls' High school; Miss Ruth Johnson, of Lanier High school; Dr. E. K. Turner, of Emory University; Dr. Clara Thompson, of Shorter College; and Dr. Martha Stanfield, of Agnes Scott.

JEWISH FUND DRIVE APPROACHES GOAL

Workers Report Contributions at First Luncheon Meeting; $50,000 Sought

The Atlanta Jewish Welfare Fund campaign had almost reached its $50,000 quota at noon yesterday, when first reports were made at a workers' luncheon meeting.

During the next few days efforts will be made to secure "considerable more contributions, in order to make the fund go over its goal, and take care of any possible shrinkage. A second workers' meeting will be held Wednesday at 12:15 o'clock at the Anisley, and the drive will be continued throughout this month.

Expressing his appreciation to the 200 workers for their initial efforts, Harold Hirsch, general chairman of the drive, urged them to carry on until every dollar of additional sum had been pledged. "Reports reach us every day," he said, "of the increasing number of Jews in Germany and eastern Europe who are losing all means of earning a livelihood. Readjustments must be made and unless we help them they starve. Every additional dollar raised means more lives spared."

Hirsch said the drive in Atlanta was attracting national attention because of the spontaneous response so far. "Scores of unsolicited contributions are reaching our offices in the Hurt building from Atlantans of all faiths," he said, "and we are deeply grateful for this beautiful demonstration of sympathy and good will."

MANY JURISTS SPEAK AT BANQUET OF S. D. K.

Many distinguished Georgia jurists spoke at the annual banquet of Kappa chapter and the Atlanta Alumni Association of Sigma Delta Kappa, an intercollegiate law fraternity, which was held last night at the East Lake Country Club. Frank A. Hooper Sr., president of the banquet were addresses by Sam Heard, president of the S. D. K. Club; Emmett Johnson, grand treasurer; L. W. Horning, of Indianapolis, grand secretary, and Benton Gaines, trustee of the grand chapter.

Jurists who spoke included Chief Justice Richard B. Russell Sr., of the Georgia supreme court; Judge Frank Jenkins, of the Georgia court of appeals; Judge Frank Hooper Jr., formerly of the state court of appeals; Judge Claude C. Smith, solicitor-general of DeKalb county; Judge Virgil Moore and Judge John D. Humphries, both of the Fulton county superior court.

SHOW SLASHES PRICES FOR CHILDREN'S DAY

"Children's Day" will be observed today at Lakewood park on the Rubin & Cherry Exposition midway with all shows and rides granting reduced admission prices to all school boys and girls starting at 1 o'clock and continuing until 6 o'clock.

Today and tomorrow are the last days of the spring engagement of the Rubin & Cherry Exposition in Atlanta, with continuous performances from noon until midnight. Gate admission is free today and no charge will be made at the park entrances on Sunday after 5 o'clock.

Twenty-four shows and 17 rides are on display for amusement seekers. On Monday morning at daybreak the show train of 40 cars will depart for Tuscaloosa, Ala., the first of 32 cities to be played on its coming road tour. It is announced that the shows will again winter here in Atlanta, returning here in November.

PARADE TO HONOR LOST CAUSE AGAIN

Atlanta Will March in Observance of Memorial Day Tomorrow.

Memories of the old south will be renewed tomorrow afternoon when representatives of every civic, military and patriotic organization in the city parade through downtown Atlanta to Oakland cemetery, where ceremonies will be held to honor the hosts that once marched under General Robert E. Lee.

Units of the parade will gather at 1:30 o'clock at the intersection of Peachtree, West Peachtree and Baker streets. At 2 o'clock they will move down Peachtree and Whitehall streets to East Hunter street and then will proceed to Oakland cemetery. The reviewing stand will be at the Capital City Club.

Orders for the parade were announced yesterday by Lieutenant Colonel Chester E. Martin, marshal of the day.

Participants in the parade will include the Old Guard, Governor's staff, naval reserve units, national guardsmen, military units from city schools, veterans' organizations, Red Cross units, policemen and members of every civic, military and patriotic organizations in the city.

Judge Lucien F. Goodrich, of Griffin, noted orator and historian, will deliver the memorial address. Fraughtman Lane Watson, 14, student at Joe Brown Junior High school, and Leban Samuel Maghee, 12, student at Joel Chandler Harris school, will be heard in eulogies on the old south. A firing squad will salute Confederate heroes.

RED CROSS GETS $844 BY SUNDAY BENEFITS

New Gifts Swell Total at Atlanta Center To More Than $171,000.

Motion picture theaters in Georgia and Alabama yesterday sent $844.65 to the Atlanta Red Cross relief center as the result of benefit shows given last Sunday. It was announced last night by Moreton M. Rolleston, chairman of the Atlanta campaign. Funds in the Atlanta center now total more than $171,000.

Films for the benefit shows were furnished free of charge to theater managers by Atlanta independent distributors in co-operation with the Georgia Film Board of Exchange. E. L. Cole, secretary of the Georgia film board, remitted the funds to Mr. Rolleston yesterday.

Theaters already making returns include: Lee theater, Eufala, Ala., $53; Lee, Dawson, $85.35; Lee, Cuthbert, $77.65; Colonial, Buford, $56.85; Ritz, Thomason, $85.50; Madison, Madison, $27.25; Price, Thomson, $53.05; Strand, Sylvania, $27.60; Palace, Lafayette, $31.85; Strand, Dalton, $24.30; Milledge, Milledge, $37.10; Hollywood, Wrightsville, $10.20; Lanett, Lanett, Ala., $64.55; Shawmut, Shawmut, Ala., $14.30; Langdale, Langdale, Ala., $16; Fairfax, Fairfax, Ala., $24.10; Riverdale, Riverdale, Ala., $2; Riviera, West Point, $23.85; Star, Toccoa, $35.40; Dixie, Cornelia, $25.70; Villa Rica, Villa Rica, $22.20; Ritz, Fort Gaines, $23.25; Dixie, Austel, $20.

Employer groups making additional contributions yesterday were: Fisher Body Company, $500; Georgia Power Company, $124.25; Burt Shoe store, $9.10; J. D. McCrory, $12.90; and Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, $28. Five negro Masonic lodges in Atlanta yesterday contributed $25.

Through oversight two contributions received on the first day of the drive were not announced until yesterday. They were $100 from Regenstein's and $50 from The Mirror.

CITY MAY ALLOW USE OF GOLF LAND

Savage Rules West End Citizens Can Be Granted Free Entry.

City Attorney Jack C. Savage will inform city council's park committee that it can allow West End citizens to use the 21-acre tract the municipality owns free of any charge for operation of the John A. White golf course, he said yesterday.

"The city can not lease, rent or sell the property under the city charter, but it can allow citizens to use it free," Savage said. "The citizens interested in the project, can be given the same right to use that portion of the park system just as the city gives various ball teams the right to use certain baseball diamonds."

Savage's opinion was given yesterday after John Hudson, attorney representing a group of members of the West End Businessmen's Association, had filed a formal request for use of the tract with the parks committee, and the matter had been referred to the legal department for consideration and study.

Hudson and his associates plan to reopen the course closed since January 1 because the city and Dr. O. E. Colium, owner of 86 acres, failed to agree on a purchase price. Colium has agreed to allow the group to use his portion of the course.

THREE ARE SENTENCED IN AUTOMOBILE THEFTS

Three persons were sentenced in Fulton superior court for larceny of autos yesterday.

Emmett Sanders, white, who had four previous convictions for auto theft, entered plea of guilty to two more counts before Judge John D. Humphries and was sentenced to serve 4 to 10 years on the chain gang.

Had Sanders been found guilty by jury, the lightest sentence he could have been given would have been 10 years. The defendant asked for mercy because he said he stole the cars to provide money for his destitute family.

"If all destitute persons took what they wanted this country would not be fit to live in," the judge said. James Harper, negro, entered a plea to larceny of a car and received a one-to-five-year sentence. Robert Stinson, negro, pleaded not guilty to a similar charge, but a jury sentenced him to serve from one to five years also. He had been convicted previously of burglary.

MRS. CHARLES HUNTER
PASSES AT SAVANNAH

Mrs. Charles J. Hunter, sister of John C. Wheatley, well-known Atlantian, died yesterday in a private hospital in Savannah. As the former Miss Elizabeth Wheatley, of Americus, she attended Lucy Cobb Institute in Athens and was a frequent visitor to Atlanta, where she had a wide circle of friends.

She is survived by her husband, a sister, Miss Alice K. Wheatley, of Savannah, and her brother here.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of Charles Samsy in Savannah. Burial will be in Hill Crest cemetery.

COPY OF TESTIMONY SOUGHT IN LASH TRIAL

Defense Denied Transcript of Evidence Given Before
Grand Jury.

BARTOW, Fla., April 24.—(AP)—The entire day was spent today in settling whether counsel for seven former Tampa policemen in the ongoing trial was entitled to a stenographer's transcript of testimony Eugene F. Poulton and Sam Rogers, two of the victims, gave before the grand jury which returned the indictment. Judge Robert T. Dewell ruled that the "veil of secrecy" thrown around the grand jury's proceedings was lifted but nevertheless upheld the state's objection to making a transcript available to the defense.

The defense sought the transcript to lay groundwork for impeaching tales Poulton and Rogers told from the witness stand regarding the abduction, beating, tarring and feathering of themselves and Joseph Shoemaker, who later died, last November 30. Just what variance the defense expected to prove between the stories they told the grand jury and those related at this trial was not brought out but Pat Whitaker, head of a battery of eight defense attorneys, asserted the stories were "different in vital, material substance."

TOWNSEND WITNESS SAYS TRIO IN CONTROL

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(AP)—Testimony that three men still control the Townsend old age pension organization and its assets, despite a recent shake-up designed to "democratize" the movement, was given today to a house investigating committee.

Robert E. Clements, co-founder of the movement, said Dr. F. E. Townsend, his brother, Walter Townsend, and Gilmour Young, who succeeded Clements as national secretary, control the Old Age Revolving Pension, Ltd., corporate name of the Townsend organization.

The testimony came shortly before the special house committee recessed its hearings until May 5. Dr. Townsend has been ordered to appear at that time.

Jaywalking as Cause of Accident Ranks High on Streets of City

Figures Prove Pedestrians
Who Break Rules Raise Fatality Rate.

If grownup jaywalkers could be sentenced to five days' instruction in a baby walker, in plain sight of everybody on the streets, no doubt it would change pedestrian habits overnight. Jaywalking is the lowest form of dangerous practice—one which causes many pedestrians to be killed each year and thousands injured. Last year there were 4,500 pedestrians who were killed while crossing the street in the middle of the block.

When pedestrians in cities cross against signals and in the middle of the block they indulge in practices that are extraordinarily dangerous. Just take the experience at intersections as an example. The rate of death per pedestrian accident involving crossing against signals, according to the Travelers Insurance Company, was 55 per cent worse last year than when crossing with signals. This single fact knocks into a cocked hat the theory that it is foolish for a pedestrian to wait at an intersection for the signal to flash "Go."

Chances of Fatality.

Jaywalkers are asked to pay heed to the fact that the chance of injuries proving fatal, when his block crossing in the middle of the block, is twice as great as crossing against signals, and three times as great as when crossing at the intersection with the "Go" signal.

And the peculiar part of it all is that a driver will rave and rant when pedestrians disobey traffic rules and get in his way and then that same driver will get out of his car and break all the rules in the book while walking two or three blocks from his parked car.

If such a driver's record were kept it would probably be found that he breaks traffic laws while driving also. It is just a case of being fair, courteous and sane, whether driving or walking.

Invited to Join.

Motorists who have any interest in reducing the awful annual toll of dead and injured from automobile accidents in Georgia are invited to join The Constitution Safety Council and take part in its efforts to make the streets and highways of the state safer.

Clip out the safe-driving pledge blank found in this issue, sign it and

Sentence for Jaywalkers—
Instruction in a Baby-walker

mail it to the Safety Council, Atlanta Constitution, with a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Let the stickers which will be sent you for the front and rear windows of your car remind you that pedestrians and other drivers are actually human beings whose lives depend a great deal on the way you drive.

HIROHITO TO LEAD ARMY MANEUVERS

Action Will Be First Time
Japanese Emperor Has Taken Command.

TOKYO, April 19.—(AP)—For the first time in history an emperor of Japan next autumn will command the annual maneuvers of his army on the plains of Hokkaido, the big northern island of Japan proper. Emperor Hirohito will take personal supervision of the war games October 1 to 3, after traveling from Yokosuka, the naval base near Tokyo, to Muroran, southern Hokkaido, by warship.

At least two and perhaps three divisions will take part but other details are secret. Newspapers have been forbidden to print anything concerning the maneuvers except government handouts.

This is attributed to the tense relations of Japan with soviet Russia.

TRIMBLE NAMED HEAD OF GEORGIA BANKERS

H. Lane Young, of Atlanta, Elected Vice President at Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 24.—(P)—Lee S. Trimble, of Augusta, was elected president of the Georgia Bankers' Association today at a session of the annual convention, of Meigsville.

Closing their annual convention, the bankers chose Rome for the 1937 meeting.

Other officers elected were H. Lane Young, Atlanta, vice president; Freeman Strickland, Atlanta, treasurer; Haynes McFadden, Atlanta, secretary; Orville A. Park, Macon, general counsel. The latter three were re-elected.

Elected as members of the executive council were H. A. Kennard, Metter; M. K. Cooper, Waynesboro; H. O. Hutcheson, Lawrenceville; Charles F. Crisp, Americus, and D. R. Cumming, Griffin.

Appointment of Ronald Ransom, Atlanta banker, as a member of the Federal Reserve Board was commended.

Curtailment Asked. Resolutions asking curtailment of government credit activities, removal of discrimination in certain states against bonded products and pledging continued co-operation in agricultural development were adopted by the association.

Trimble, the new president, is vice president of the Georgia Railroad

Elected by Bankers

H. LANE YOUNG.

Bank & Trust Company of Augusta.

Alva G. Maxwell, Atlanta banker and a national councillor of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, today scored government spending beyond income, competition with private enterprise and federal lending while money he said was standing idle in financial institutions.

Maxwell said since 1919 the chamber had fought "unwarranted interference of government" in private business affairs.

Admitting there must be governmental regulation of such businesses as banking, Maxwell said the business should "not be denied the right to have a part to play in drafting and passing laws which regulate them."

He asserted that legislation now passed "not for the best interest of business but according to the expressed wishes of the largest number of voters."

Maxwell then outlined the position of business as revealed by a recent referendum of United States Chamber of Commerce members.

"Agricultural developments have been kept under close scrutiny," he said. "The chamber has greatly interested itself in a land policy program for farmers, the independence of agriculture, the relation of industry to agriculture, the cotton situation and foreign trade as it relates to cotton and other farm products.

Maxwell said the chamber favors "voluntary consolidation" of "certain railroads," is pleased that "unwise features" were eliminated in the banking act of 1935, that it supports the insurance of bank deposits with provision for "unlimited assessments" upon sound banks, is ready to make "practical suggestions" to improve the social security and securities exchange acts, and seeks measures by which the government can withdraw as a banker in its own functions.

Virginia Speaks. Government "competition and control" were classed by Thomas C. Boushall, Richmond, Va., banker, today as one of the "penalties" banking is having to pay for what he said was its failure to adopt a program of organized research for progress.

Describing the advances made in the industrial world through research, Boushall said:

"Banking is the last large group to stand and gaze upon the phenomenon of research and its results.

"Indeed we are paying the penalties—government competition, government control, government supervision, government ownership in part and in whole, and political leadership where bank ability should have long since taken command."

JESSE STUBBS DIES AT HOME IN MACON

MACON, Ga., April 24.—(P)—Jesse C. Stubbs, who for 30 years had been a Southern railway locomotive engineer, running most of that time out of Atlanta, died here today after an illness of two weeks.

He was a native of Monroe, N. C., where he was born on May 13, 1883. He came from Atlanta 18 years ago.

Since leaving the service of the railroad, he operated a bus line here, connecting with the airport and recreation resorts outside the city.

His wife, two sons and two daughters are among the survivors.

BAINBRIDGE TO VOTE ON FAST TIME PLAN

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., April 24.—(P)—A vote on whether or not this city should adopt eastern standard time during the summer months will be held May 1.

If adopted, the city would set eastern time from May 1 to September 1.

CAROLINAN HEADS ORPHANAGE BODY

Dr. Greer, of Thomasville, N. C., Elected at Macon Session.

MACON, Ga., April 24.—(P)—Dr. I. O. Greer, superintendent of the Baptist orphanage of Thomasville, N. C., was elected president of the tri-state conference of orphanage workers in the closing session of the thirty-first annual conference today at the Masonic Home of Georgia.

Before she retired, Mrs. Anderson, of the Georgia Baptist Orphanage of Hapeville, Ga. Other officers elected today include L. Ross Linn, Thorswell orphanage, Clinton; S. C. vice president, and L. H. Daugherty, superintendent of the Macon home here, secretary-treasurer.

Two-Tone Rose Wins First Prize At Thomasville Flower Display

Fifteenth Annual Show Draws Throng of Visitors to South Georgia City Who Also See Gardens at Estates of Winter Residents; Many Awards Are Announced

THOMASVILLE, Ga., April 24.—(P)—A two-tone rose, the Herbert Hoover, exhibited by Mrs. E. Jack Smith, of Thomasville, was awarded the sweepstakes prize for the best rose in the annual rose show here today.

A Calceolonia, entered by Mrs. Emmett Mitchell, of Thomasville, won the prize for the best white rose.

Other prize winners:

The best pink, an Editor MacFarlane, displayed by Mrs. W. H. Flowers, of Thomasville; the best red, a High Dixon, entered by Mrs. Gertrude Haskell, of Cleveland, and Thomasville; the best yellow, a Mrs. Pierre Du Pont, entered by D. R. Pringle, of Thomasville.

The Thomasville Ice Company won first prize for the best display in the club class.

Mrs. Perry W. Harvey, of Cleveland and Thomasville, won the tea tables display; Mrs. C. K. C. Ausley was first in the dinner tables display, and Mrs. John King won first in the breakfast tables display.

Mrs. R. S. Pardee was the winner in the shadow boxes competition.

Winners in rose classes included Mrs. R. S. Pardee; Mrs. Charles Joseph, Mrs. W. C. Lambert; white American Beauty, Mrs. E. Jack Smith; Killarney, Mrs. George Swift; Killarney Queen, Mrs. J. J. Bryant.

The fifteenth annual flower display drew to Thomasville today a large throng of flower lovers from Georgia and the south. Held in the large airport hangar, ample space was provided for the show.

The show in the hangar was open 12 hours today, prize winners being announced this afternoon.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 24.—(P)—The Atlanta Junior League thyroid clinic, located at Grady hospital, was judged to have the winning entry in the scientific exhibit of the 87th annual convention of the Medical Association of Georgia, which closed here at noon today.

The exhibit, which is an interesting one showing photos of thyroid gland operations, was in charge of Dr. D. Henry Poer, director of the clinic. Dr. Poer explained the clinic is supported entirely by the Junior League in Atlanta.

A plastic surgery exhibit shown by Dr. W. G. Hamm, of Atlanta, won second place and an exhibit entitled "Transplantation of Various Organs and Tissues in Amphibians," entered by Dr. Walter Stultz, Augusta, won third place. Honorable mention was given to exhibits by the Cancer commission of the association and an exhibit by Dr. V. P. Sydenstricker, Augusta.

Two representatives of the Junior League in Atlanta brought the winning exhibit to the convention. They are Mrs. Robert A. Whitley and Mrs. John Mooney Jr., co-chairmen. It is explained that the pictures and work of the non-medical group were done by members of the League. It is understood that it is the first time in the history of the association an exhibit of this kind has been shown.

Dr. G. A. Traylor, of Augusta, was elected president-elect and Dr. B. H. Minchew, of Waycross, who served as president-elect last year, succeeded Dr. James E. Paulin, of Atlanta, as president. Dr. Traylor is a member of the Chi Zeta Chi medical fraternity and is one of the best known physicians in the state.

Miss Elizabeth Gleason Weds Gordon Heath at Lovely Rites

Miss Elizabeth Gleason became the bride of Gordon Heath at a beautiful ceremony last evening at the Oakhurst Presbyterian church. The Rev. Claude A. Pritchard, assisted by Rev. Russell Johnson, performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends.

Miss Dorothy Springer, assisted by George R. Rusk, rendered a program of music. During the ceremony "Oh, Promise Me" and "Lullaby" were sung. The "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" heralded the approach of the wedding party and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used for the recessional. The church was beautifully decorated with palms, southern shrubs and calla lilies. The altar was banked high with rich greenery, interspersed with floor baskets filled with stately calla lilies and seven-branched candelabra holding white burning tapers.

Ushers were Frank J. Ship, Dan Ingram, Gene Parker, Luther S. Tatum, who carried the bride, and the groomsmen, W. E. Heath and J. C. Heath, brothers of the groom; John P. Hughes, brother of the bride, and a shower of flowers was thrown by Misses Fannie Kimbrough, Elsie Van Winkle, Myra O'Neal, Mrs. W. R. Eason, Mrs. R. D. Robinson, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor.

The bride's attendants were gowned alike in becoming models of Chantilly lace, made along graceful lines, and flaring at the bottom to form a slight train. A charming note was the jackets, fashioned with Peter Pan collars, loose backs and belted in front with velvet ribbon. The bridesmaids wore canary yellow, belted with lilac velvet and crepe sandals of the same shade. They carried graceful bouquets of lilac, pink and white flowers with yellow roses and pink snapdragons tied with lilac ribbon. The matron of honor's gown was lilac Chantilly lace, and her flowers were yellow roses tied with yellow ribbons.

Bobby Robinson, who was ring bearer, wore a white suit of Congo cloth and carried the ring in a calla lily. The bride's bouquet was a beautiful yellow and white. Elizabeth Robinson, entered next wearing yellow net posed over yellow tulle, made along old-fashioned lines, with an off-the-shoulder effect and two rows of pleated net at bottom of the skirt. Her sash of lilac

Culbertson on Contract

World's Champion Bridge and Contract
Card Analyst.

Guide to Defense.
In many situations the best guide for the defenders is simply to determine what the declarer wants them to do—and then do the other thing. If the declarer is an expert, it is to be assumed that he is adopting the line of play best calculated to succeed. "Opportunities" that he may present to the defenders must be viewed with the deepest suspicion.

When the declarer plays so badly that it is a question as to what particular mistake he has made, even experts may have trouble with the defense.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 heart 1 spade 1 no trump Pass
2 hearts Pass 2 no trump Pass
3 no trump (final bid)

East opened the 10 of spades and declarer, for some unimaginable reason, allowed the trick to be taken. East hardly could guess that a diamond shift would have led to a diamond shift and that a diamond shift would have led to a diamond shift.

Dummy's ace won, the heart suit was run off without further loss, and declarer's diamond king remained an entry for the ninth trick, the spade king.

Had East been able to imagine it, declarer's first round hold-up play gave the defenders an excellent chance to defeat the contract. A diamond shift would have been embarrassing to the declarer. True, he still could make the hand by double-dummy play, but not knowing the location of the heart king he could not have risked the unblock of the spade ace, which would have been necessary to the cashing of his own king.

East hardly could be criticized for failing to guess that the declarer had laid himself wide open.

TODAY'S QUESTION.
Question: Both sides were vulnerable. My right hand opponent bid one spade. I held—
Spades 8 6 4 2, Hearts A K 7 5 3, Diamonds A 10, Clubs J 7.

I bid two hearts. Was that a poor bid, holding three honor tricks? Answer: An extremely poor bid. You should have had six playing tricks instead of the four you actually had.

Georgia Federation In Macon for 937 Convention

By BESSIE S. STAFFORD,
Editor of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 24.—Georgia clubwomen held the forty-second convention in Macon in April 1937, at invitation of Macon Woman's Club.

Mrs. Leonard R. Booth, president of the hostess club, extended the invitation to convene in Macon, the home of Mrs. Lewis Waxelbaum, second vice president in the new regime of officers and president of sixth district.

Mrs. Booth extended the invitation at the concluding session of the convocation held Friday in Partridge inn.

An important action of the executive board of the state federation was the bestowal of life director for service upon Mrs. Albert Hill, of Greenville, bestowed upon this popular clubwoman for long, distinguished and continued service in the organization. The citation comes from the constitution and by-laws of the state body and is one of the highest and most coveted honors to be given to a clubwoman.

Mrs. Hill is retiring first vice president of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs and has held other state offices during her career. She has been filled with constructive and productive efforts. She understands club psychology, possesses a sense of humor, planning personality and qualifications that fit her to do any service in condition and circumstance. Mrs. Hill has been fourth district president, state secretary and treasurer, and has had varied experience in the organization, the federation work. When Georgia federation endorsed suffrage for women at the Columbus convention a heated controversy followed her withdrawal of several clubs from the state body. It prompted the resignation of the newly elected recording secretary who did not see her way to continue.

It was Mrs. Hill who responded to the frantic call of the state president to fill the unexpired term and to smooth down the troubled waters. Resignations of officers came to have brought forward the sportive spirit that Mrs. Hill always displays, for she accepted the first vice presidency in 1935 when the secretary resigned her post, her term ending with Mrs. H. B. Ritchie's regime.

Dummy's ace won, the heart suit was run off without further loss, and declarer's diamond king remained an entry for the ninth trick, the spade king.

Had East been able to imagine it, declarer's first round hold-up play gave the defenders an excellent chance to defeat the contract. A diamond shift would have been embarrassing to the declarer. True, he still could make the hand by double-dummy play, but not knowing the location of the heart king he could not have risked the unblock of the spade ace, which would have been necessary to the cashing of his own king.

TODAY'S QUESTION.
Question: Both sides were vulnerable. My right hand opponent bid one spade. I held—
Spades 8 6 4 2, Hearts A K 7 5 3, Diamonds A 10, Clubs J 7.

I bid two hearts. Was that a poor bid, holding three honor tricks? Answer: An extremely poor bid. You should have had six playing tricks instead of the four you actually had.

Holbrook-Neal Rites Will Be Solemnized Saturday, May 9

Wedding plans for Miss Charlotte Seago Holbrook and William Watt Neal, whose engagement was announced recently, are of cordial interest. The ceremony will be performed in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church at 5:30 o'clock Saturday, May 9, by Dr. J. W. Johnston, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Episcopal church, South. The bride-elect will be given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Stewart R. Roberts.

Miss Martha Holbrook, sister of the bride-elect, will be maid of honor. Margaret Neal, of Greensboro, N. C., sister of the groom-elect, will be bridesmaid. Little Harriet Hardman Mitchell, of Washington, D. C., niece of the bride-elect, will act as flower girl. John E. Nation will be best man for Mr. Neal and Charles Cox will serve as groomsmen. The ushers will be John Spalding May, Allan Gottschalk and DeWitt Farrar.

Dr. and Mrs. Stewart R. Roberts will entertain the wedding party, immediate families and out-of-town guests at a buffet supper following the wedding.

Many other parties have been planned in honor of this popular couple. Saturday Miss Elizabeth Reeves will entertain at luncheon and later Miss Sarah Williams has planned a bridge party at her home on Rumson road. Sunday afternoon Miss Sarah Knott and Mrs. Claude Green Smith will entertain at a tea at the home of Miss Knott on Myrtle street.

Glamorous Atmosphere Pervades Series of Opera Presentations

Atlanta regained her former brilliance of operatic festivity last evening, when stunningly-gowned women and their escorts alighted from their motors and entered the Fox theater to hear the very special artists of the Metropolitan Opera group, their noteworthy presentation of the famous and much-loved opera, "Aida." The dress circle presented a harmonious blending of the latest shades in evening attire, and a glamorous atmosphere of beauty and charm pervaded the theater.

The presence of these brilliant stars has formed the inspiration for many delightful social affairs, at which the talented artists will hold the spotlight. Prominent among these is the luncheon to be given today by Mr. and Mrs. John Grant Sr. at their home, Craigleachle. The luncheon will take place immediately before the matinee presentation, "La Boheme," and will assemble a number of prominent members of Atlanta's social contingent.

Following the operas, the Piedmont Driving Club, the Capital City Country Club, the Druid Hills Golf Club and East Lake Country Club will form the setting for congenial post-opera gatherings of Atlanta socialites, by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Strupp Jr., honoring Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson Jr. at the Piedmont Driving Club this evening, the guests of their second wedding anniversary.

"Let Your Stars Guide You"

By BERNICE DENTON PIERSON, Foremost American Astrologer.
"What chariots, what horses, against us shall ride,
While the stars in their courses do fight on our side?"

PRESIDENT FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT'S HOROSCOPE.

The stars of great men often have a close affinity to those of their country. It is interesting to note this part-of your numbers your forecast will be complete.

Mr. Bernice Denton Pierson, Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Please prepare astrological forecast, according to the rules of astrology, of the birth date submitted below and return to the name and address given. I enclose: 1. Self-addressed, stamped envelope. 2. Ten cents in stamps or coin to cover mailing cost.

Birthdate .....

Planetary Interpretations.

Below are planetary indications, according to the rules of astrology, one of which may apply to your forecast. Every day these interesting interpretations will be published, descriptive of the influence of the planets at the time of your birth. Your astrological forecast includes a sun and planetary interpretations, designated by numbers on your sun chart. Watch carefully day by day for your numbers.

Number 700—You have a restless, sensitive nature and a desire for change. You will travel as extensively as you can afford, with beneficial results. Without an occasional change of scene you become restless and dissatisfied. The indications are excellent for health, employment, the necessities of life, but don't build up a lot of hopes, as you may have them torn down by circumstances and delays. Give time, there is every indication that your hopes will be realized.

Number 100—The indications are that you are impulsive and inclined to scatter your interests in many different lines. To attain financial independence you will have to curb these tendencies and concentrate on one or two lines at the most. Money problems arise but if you will develop along one line or two lines, you can become financially independent. Don't leave things for others to do if you can do them yourself. You will climb the ladder of success more or less through your own efforts.

Number 1100—You are always trying to improve your domestic life and take pride in making your home comfortable and happy. You must have a peaceful, happy home environment to get the most out of life. Do not overstock yourself with belongings. You will find that a few things well arranged will be more satisfactory.

Keep out of court. Be ready for business or social competition by developing the ability to see the other fellow's side of the question.

Number 900—You should be careful in choosing your mate, as you require constant companionship to be happy in life. Bring matters of correspondence, education, relatives to a head. Some delay and delays may be expected, but the indications for success are good.

Zeonox Spring Dance.

The Zeonox Club met recently at the home of Miss Ellen Alexander. Final plans were made for the spring dance which will assemble 200 members of the younger social contingent, May 20, at the Decatur Woman's Club.

Members of the club are Misses Sara McFall, president; Grace Graham vice president; Lorraine Stringer, secretary; Mary Lou Moody, treasurer; Mary Sue Heldmann, scribe; Love Bartlett, Frances Christopher, Lillian Springer, Frances Muse, Martha Scott, Ellen Alexander, Theodora Ripley, Yvonne Belmont, Myrtle Seekinger, Marguerite Shingler and Elizabeth Harrold.

Mary La Rocca Grove.

Mrs. Ola Humphreys entertained members of Mary E. La Rocca Grove of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle recently at her home, 407 East Hawthorne avenue, in College Park. Mrs. A. L. Johnson was present.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Moultrie, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Humphreys, Mesdames Evelyn Henderson, A. L. Johnson, Lavinia Varian, Jeanie Brown and Beatrice Owen.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Brown.

Presbyterian Church Rites Unite Miss Mildred Hansell, Mr. Kelly

The marriage of Miss Mildred Hansell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Hansell, to Manon Owen Kelly Jr. was solemnized last evening at the Ormeau Presbyterian church. Rev. William E. Crane officiated the presence of relatives and friends.

The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of spruce and lilies against a background of tall palms and ferns—seven-branched candelabra holding unadorned tapers were placed at intervals. A program of music was rendered by Miss Margaret Battle, accompanied by Miss Doris Guy.

Ushers were James J. Byrnes, J. Turman, Dr. W. E. Upchurch and Joseph H. Webb. Mrs. James Edward Carlton was bridesmaid and Miss Margaret Hansell maid of honor. Mrs. Carlton wore pink satin, while Miss Hansell's gown was of blue broadcloth. They were made alike and featured tunic length coats of matching material and puff sleeves. Their flowers were pink roses and snapdragons. Little Miss Nannette Enloe, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a peach tulle dress with ruffled skirt and carried a basket of roses.

The bride entered with her father, William Albert Hansell, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by Mr. Kelly and his best man, Horace Kelly. Her brilliant beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of ivory satin and lace which was made along princess lines with a train. The sleeves, which were of lace, were slightly full at the shoulder and tapered to fit closely at the wrist. She wore a veil of net which had a cap of princess lace worn by her mother on her wedding day. Her flowers were calla lilies.

Mrs. Hansell, mother of the bride, wore a peach lace dress and she wore a spray of gardenias. Mrs. M. O. Kelly Sr. was given in flower girl model and her flowers were gardenias. Mrs. A. O. Granger, the bride's grandmother, wore a lavender crepe dress and a spray of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly left for a trip to Florida. The bride traveled in a blue dress with navy blue coat and accessories and she wore a shoulder spray of gardenias.

Meeting Postponed.
There will be no meeting of the Every Saturday Club today on account of the opera performance and other festivities featuring the Dogwood Festival program.

GOMEZ, WARNEKE HURL VICTORIES FOR YANKS, CUBS

Detroit Wins; Homers Give Indians Triumph Over White Sox.

NEW YORK, April 24.—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians strengthened their hold on first place in American league standings today by rapping out a 6-to-2 decision over the Chicago White Sox, who dropped to fourth place as the New York Yankees moved into third.

Although out hit 11 to 10, the Indians were helped to victory by four Chicago fielding errors. Twice the Indians came from behind Chicago's one-run leads in the early innings and Earl Averill's homer in the sixth put Cleveland ahead for the first time. Trosky got his fourth home run of the season.

New York's second straight victory over the Washington Senators was a runaway, the Yankees winning 10 to 2. Seven-hit pitching by Vernon Grooms was followed up with 17 safe hits by New York batsmen.

The first triple play of the season was the feature of Detroit's 9 to 3 win over St. Louis. The world champion Tigers climbed into fifth position, sending Washington back to sixth. It was Tommy Bridges' first victory of the season.

The Tigers clinched the game with a six-run burst in the second, featuring by Gehring's triple with the bases loaded. Bell homered for the Browns.

St. Louis was reduced to that familiar cellar when Philadelphia made a clean sweep of a two-game series by defeating the Red Sox 3 to 1.

National league games were featured by Chicago's climb to third place with a 6-to-1 victory over Pittsburgh. It also was the first time this season that Lon Warneke has lasted the full route. He limited the Pirates to seven hits while his mates were getting to Blanton, Hoyt and Tising for nine.

Philadelphia fell to fourth place by dropping a 4-to-1 decision to the Boston Bees. Danny MacFayden, Yankee castoff, held the Phillies to six scattered safeties while the Bees pecked away at the offerings of Curt Davis.

In the other National league game Brooklyn defeated the New York Giants 3 to 2 and climbed ahead of Pittsburgh to head the second division. Van Mungo, making his fifth start of the season, kept the Giants' six hits well scattered and struck out nine.

HAAS FAVORED IN S. I. G. MEET; LESLIE UPSET

Billy Eager Turns Back Adams, Conqueror of Dan Sage Jr.

By Kenneth Gregory.

ATHENS, Ga., April 24.—Ripping par to shreds, Freddie Haas Jr., the sharpshooting Louisiana State University star, established himself as the favorite to capture the Southern Intercollegiate golf crown today by conquering his first two opponents with sensational 68's.

While the former southern amateur champion and one-time runner in the national intercollegiate was clipping ten strokes from par to advance with ease through the first and second rounds, his teammate, Paul Leslie, defending titleholder, fell victim in the quarter-finals.

Lewis Johnson, slender "dark horse" entry from Charleston College, turned in the first upset of the second annual tournament as he eliminated Leslie in a bitterly contested match which went 20 holes.

Bill Welch, of the University of Texas, also had to travel 20 holes before downing Tommy Barnes, of Georgia Tech, moved into the semi-finals by turning back Wright Adams, of L. S. U., 4 and 2.

Medalist with a 36-hole qualifying score of 145, one under par, the L. S. U. team captain's rounds today gave him a 72-hole mark of 11 strokes under standard figures for the par 73 course.

Haas defeated Tommy Michael, of West Tennessee Teachers College, 5 and 4, in the first round and whipped Henry Joe, of Duke University, 4 and 2 in the quarter-finals.

In the semi-finals tomorrow he is matched against Johnson, and Welch plays Eager. The final will be played at 10 holes tomorrow afternoon.

Barnes led Welch one up going to the 18th hole, but the husky Texan dropped in a good sized putt for a birdie to send the match to extra holes. They also halved the 19th, but Welch sank a six-footer for a birdie 3 on the 20th to win.

After running up a four-hole lead at the halfway mark, Eager had little trouble winning from Adams.

"I don't believe I missed a bunker on the course," lamented Adams while this morning eliminated Dan Sage, of Georgia, 6 and 5. Sage tied with Leslie at 148 for runner-up in the qualifying round.

Welch defeated Billy Street, of Georgia Tech, 5 and 4, and Poe eliminated Raymond Ramsey, of Texas, three up to reach the quarter-finals.

In the second flight semi-finals tomorrow Crawford Rainwater, of Emory, plays Dave Ewell, of the University of Richmond, while Cliff Perry, of Duke, meets Jack Fouts, of Texas.

GRANT DEFEATS SURFACE AFTER HARD STRUGGLE

Bitsy Wins, 7-5, 8-6, 10-8; Plays Don Budge Sunday

By Kenneth Gregory.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 24.—(UP)—Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, Atlanta's Davis cup star, defeated Hal Surface Jr., of Kansas City, 7-5, 8-6, 10-8, today, to enter the finals of the Mason-Dixon tennis tournament.

Grant will play Donald Budge, of Oakland, Cal., for the championship Sunday.

The Grant-Surface match brought one of the largest galleries of the tournament to watch the hard battling to gain the final round.

Throughout the Georgian and Californian provided snappy tennis, but both lacked driving power.

A lack of experience was a big factor in the defeat of Surface, 12th ranking tennis player in the nation. He had 68 in 10 to the net many times, but played the wrong shot.

More than a score of times they both lost their services.

Surface played better and cleaner shots most of the match. His undermost backhand strokes caught Grant over 40 times, but they both blew them.

In the second set, Surface had the set point, but got into a long duc in the 12th game and lost.

Grant seemed confident most of the match and always managed to speed around the court ahead of the ball.

One championship was decided—the women's doubles title. Mrs. Virginia Rice Johnson and Katherine Winthrop, both of Boston, defeated Eunice Dean, of San Antonio, Texas, and Norma Taubie, of New York, 6-3, 6-1.

Mrs. Johnson also won her way to the finals of the women's singles, defeating Miss Taubie in a three-set match, 6-3, 7-5, 7-6.

Mrs. Johnson will oppose Helen Fulton, of Winnetka, Ill., in the finals tomorrow. Miss Fulton advanced by defeating Miss Dean, 4-6, 6-1.

The women's finals will start Saturday morning at 10:45, and the men's singles will begin at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

CADET TRACKMEN WIN TRIPLE MEET

With Beals leading the way G. M. A. added another victory to its track record in winning over Tech High and Lanier High, Friday afternoon at Grant field. The Cadets scored 64 points, with Lanier High second, 57, and Tech High third, 51.

Beals won first place in the 100-yard dash, the 200-yard low hurdles and the broad jump. He also won third place in the 220-yard dash.

Needing a hurdlar, each Page several days ago turned to Beals, who has come along fine. He ran the low hurdles in 23.4 seconds, which is one-tenth of a second slower than that recorded in national rankings last year.

He leaped 21 feet 11.2 inches in the broad jump, for another sensational feat.

Malone, in winning both the 220-yard and the 440-yard dashes, paced Lanier's entries.

SMITHIES BEAT PURPLES, 7 TO 5, FOR SIXTH WIN

Typists Move Into Second Place Over Boys' High Nine.

By Kenneth Gregory.

Tech High, Commercial and Monroe were winners Friday afternoon in the closing round of the first half of the Big Eight baseball schedule. Tech High, the defending champion, defeated Boys' High, 7 to 5, for its sixth straight win. Commercial moved into second place in the standings with a 15-to-5 win over Riverside Military Academy, and Monroe again defeated G. M. A., 10 to 4.

The Tech High-Boys' High game was another of those bitter prep scraps and was a pitchers' battle between Bob Smith, son of the old Boston Braves hurler, and Bill Pelham, sensational young Smithie star.

Pelham struck out 10 batters and led the Smithie batting attack with three for four. Manning and Marlow also hit well for the Smithies.

Parkerson and Borm divided hitting honors for the Purple.

Boys' High... 201 000 100—5 10 4
Tech High... 110 302 00x—7 11 1
Smith and Dye; Pelham and Melvin.

Neal Outstanding For Typists.

Neal was the star for Commercial. He limited the Cadets to seven scattered hits, struck out 10 batters and led the Typists' hitting with four for five. The fielding of Mayfield was particularly good for the winners.

Riverside... 111 020 000—5 7 4
Commercial... 000 433 41x—15 16 2
Cross and Little; Neal and Gully.

Garner's Pitching Wins for Monroe.

Garner's fine pitching and the pinch hitting of Murphy enabled Monroe to beat G. M. A. at College Park, 4 to 3.

Garner limited the Cadets to five hits. Murphy, playing his first baseball, led the hitting with four for five, while Leatherback hit two for two.

Monroe... 010 305 001—10 13 5
G. M. A.... 100 120 00x—4 5 6
Garner and Harden; Murillo and Thompson.

Fulton Captures Sixth Straight.

Fulton High won its sixth straight victory with a 4-to-2 decision over Southwest DeKalb in the opening round of the second half of the North Georgia Intercollegiate conference baseball race.

Gunter and Gladden led the hitting for Fulton.

S. DeKalb... 010 000 010—2 3 3
Fulton... 010 110 01x—4 3 3

Enjoy the BALANCED BREW

Champagne Velvet is "The Balanced Brew." It's balanced for taste... its appealing, wine-like character blends, mellow and heightens its bouquet. And it's balanced for effect... in addition to pure water and yeast, just the right proportion of choice hops and selected grain (and nothing else) makes its effect only healthfully exhilarating. That's why people say "There's no 'A. E.' (after effect) in C. V."

Try Champagne Velvet today... no let-down will follow its refreshing zestfulness. Or try it tonight... there'll be no early morning unpleasant reaction.

Georgia Trackmen Face 'Gators Today

ATHENS, Ga., April 24.—Strengthened by the return of Sprinter Julian Baxter, Coach H. J. Stegman's Georgia track team encounters the University of Florida outfit at noon today in the first varsity meet of the year on Sanford field.

Florida scored several firsts against the formidable Tech Yellow Jackets last week but lost. Gaston, dash star, who overcame the great Perrin Walker in the 100-yard dash with a time of 9.6 seconds, will run against Forrest (Spec) Towns.

White Golf Club To Open Today

Under sponsorship of the West End Businessmen's Association, the John A. White golf course, located on Hill road in West End Park, will be reopened this afternoon for the spring and summer season.

Dr. G. E. Collins, owner of part of the property, has donated use of the golf course to the general public and the citizens of West End, who have agreed to keep up the course.

The course is in excellent playing condition with few exceptions and will be ready for the opening shortly after noon today.

R. M. Hubert, former professional for the club, who will be in charge of the course for the association and a green fee of 25 cents will be charged for nine holes.

Rails and Low-Yield Liens
Yield in Corporate Division of List.

Daily Bond Averages.
(Copyright, 1936, Standard Statistics Co.)

NEW YORK, April 24.—Following is the bond market held to a restricting range today with a mixed undertone ruling most divisions.

Activity in the government list centered on the long-term treasury obligations, especially the 2-3-4s of 1945 which closed 1-1/2 higher at 102.

Home Owners' Loan was also in demand, along with several other guaranteed issues. Small offerings of short-term loans brought declines of 1/32 to 3/32.

In the domestic corporate division rails and low-yield bonds leaned a trifle to the upside. Declines of small fractions to around a point were shown by Illinois Central 4-5-6s, New York Central 4-5-6s, Atlantic Coast Line 4-5-6s, Erie 4-5-6s, Consolidated Gas 5-6-7s and New England Telephone 5s.

Slightly higher were American Water Works 6s at 100 3/4, International Hydro-Electric 6s at 100 1/4, Southern Railway 6s at 100 1/4, International Paper 6s at 100 1/4, Youngtown Sheet & Tube at 100 1/4 and Nickel Plate 5-6-7s at 100 1/4.

As measured by the Associated Press averages, 20 rails declined 2 of a point to 91 1/2, the 10 utilities were 1 of a point higher at 101 1/2, while the low-yield and foreign groups declined 1 of a point each and industrial held unchanged.

BOARD WILL MAKE STUDY OF CANAL
Former Report on Florida Project Will Be Brought Up to Date.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(AP)—General E. M. Markham, chief of army engineers, today appointed a special board to make a study of work already done on the Florida ship canal and bring a former report on the project up to date.

The board was composed of Colonel E. L. Brown, division engineer at Richmond; Colonel F. B. Wilby, division engineer at New Orleans; Lieutenant Colonel Earl North, district engineer at Jacksonville, and Lieutenant Colonel Herbert B. Sommers, chief of canal construction.

Army engineers here said appointment of such a board was the ordinary procedure after completion of the first unit of construction. Their report, which is to supplement earlier findings on the proposed canal, is intended, the engineers said, to bring out any important points about the project discovered during the work already done.

Transfers Decline; General Run of Issues Close at Opening Prices.

NEW YORK, April 24.—(AP)—Rail yard tendencies in some of the metals and industrial bonds on the market on a fairly steady course today, although the rank and file of issues were hesitant and closed within easy reach of opening prices.

Aluminum Co. got up to 120 1/2 at one time for a 4-14 point gain, but encountered sellers and fell back to 120 1/2 where it was 1 3/4 higher on balance. Pittsburgh Plate gained 1 1/2 at 121 and fractional improvement was shown by American Gas, Consolidated Gas, Chesapeake & Potomac, Humble Oil and Sherwin-Williams.

Issues holding unchanged or slipping back a trifle included Electric Bond & Share, Cities Service, Gulf Oil, Lake Shore Mines, Newmont, Niagara Hudson and Wright-Harmon.

Transfers of 332,000 shares compared with 461,000 the day before.

NEWSPAPERMAN FREED OF CONTEMPT CHARGES
Dakota High Court Stresses Need for Unfettered Press.

PIERRE, S. D., April 24.—(AP)—Holding the "need for a free and unfettered press is perhaps more urgent in this country than ever it has been before," the state supreme court today overturned the conviction of Aberdeen newspaperman on contempt of court charges resulting from editorial criticism of a circuit court judge.

While it reversed the lower court in the four-year-old case, the supreme court held contempt proceedings were "proper and entirely justifiable with sufficient authority to sustain 'conclusions and judgment.'" It concluded, however, that the newspaper could not be held in contempt for "promoting the public welfare."

The case attracted wide attention, it began when the Aberdeen American and News published editorials in February, 1932, criticizing Judge Howard Babcock, of Sisseton, for what they termed leniency in a sentence concerning defendants in a graft in Brown county.

In appealing the case, attorneys for the newspaper attacked the sentences as violating constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press. They also charged that the sentence on which the jail sentences were suspended amounted to censorship.

NANCY PAGE
Sometimes This Door Takes the Place of a Screen.

By FLORENCE La GANKE

Nancy had an invitation to attend a series of lectures being held in one of the fine old homes of the city. The growth of the city and the unoccupied until a charitable organization was given permission to use it for their headquarters.

Many of the furnishings had been left in place by the owner, and Nancy was interested in seeing what had been done with the French doors between the living room and dining room. The doors had been curtained with net, shirred into rods placed at top and bottom of the glass panes. This is a modern treatment which they had not used. Nancy could see why this had not been done since the owners had not wanted to separate the two rooms so completely. But they did want, apparently, to shut out the view of the dining room from guests who gathered in the living room before the dinner was served. Fine Chinese silk in creamy tone had been used for the curtaining. A row of insertion, quite wide, and a wide edging of lace had been sewed on the silk. The tips of the lace scalloped and been attached to ivory rings on the rods placed on the dining room side of the door. It was easy to pull these curtains shut before dinner was announced and then pull them open when the guests were at dinner and ready to enjoy the open fire and the spaciousness of the living room as seen from the dining room.

Another door interested Nancy in this house. It opened onto a screened porch and was wide enough to take tables or large pieces of furniture that might be placed on the porch. The modern doorway is small, so small that tables are moved in and out with a great deal of bother. They have to be stood on end and maneuvered around and even then the doorway is apt to be scratched. Nancy knew that if ever she built another house she would see to it that doors, stairways, landings, turned on hinges, would be furniture to be moved with ease. Large bookcases, pianos, tables have a way of giving room and water a few extra inches. Let's build large, wide, high and handsome. Was Nancy's viewpoint at the moment.

Nancy has a leaflet on "Modern Ways of Curtaining" that may prove helpful. Send a stamped, self-addressed The Atlanta Constitution for it. (Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution)

EXPANSION REPORTED IN TRADE, BUSINESS
Sharp Increase in Employment Is Also Shown by Federal Reserve.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—(AP)—A "considerable expansion in factory production and employment were reported today by the Federal Reserve Board in a summary of business conditions for March and early April."

The board's summary index of industrial production showed no change, remaining at 94 per cent of the 1922-25 average. This was attributed to a decline in output offsetting the factory gains.

Production of automobiles "rose sharply" to a total of 425,000 passenger cars and trucks, and continued to increase during April, the report continued.

A seasonal increase in steel production during March, followed in the first three weeks of April by a rapid rise, was reported.

Lumber production increased more seasonally from February to March, and activity in the mills also increased, the board said.

There was little change in cotton textile output, while woolen mill activity declined by more than is usual for the season.

Production of hard and soft coal dropped substantially from the relatively high level of February. The board said the decline was the cause of the decline in total mine production.

Both pay roll and factory employment spurred beyond the usual seasonal gains from mid-February to mid-March.

Employment rose in the machinery industry at sawmills and at clothing establishments.

There was a decrease, however, in employment at plants producing rubber tires and tubes, where a strike was in progress in the middle of March. At automobile factories the number employed declined slightly, while pay rolls showed a considerable increase.

FIRE LEVELS RUG PLANT.
CARLISLE, Pa., April 24.—(AP)—Fire today destroyed the Hollinger rug manufacturing plant in the heart of the business section. Frank Hollinger, owner, said the loss would total more than $50,000.

MAIL LAW VIOLATIONS
ALLEGED IN PROMOTIONJohn McCullough Held in Connection With Refinery
Unit Sales Here.

Mail law violations were charged yesterday to John McCullough, promoter of the Southern States Refinery, who was arrested yesterday by postal inspectors in the 22 Marietta building.

McCullough's hearing was set by United States Commissioner Ed S. Griffith for next Friday. He pleaded not guilty and furnished a $2,000 bond.

McCullough is charged with having sold partial units in the Southern States Refinery at $10 a unit. It was charged that he had leased a tract of land in Gulfport, Miss., for the erection of a refinery to be moved from Gladewater, Texas, but that investigation had shown no such refinery was in operation at the Texas town.

Postal Inspector T. H. Tervey, of Atlanta, had investigated the case and the charges were laid before Commissioner Griffith by the Atlanta office of the Securities Exchange Commission.

McCullough is said to have had a suite of offices in the Commercial Exchange building, opposite the Hurt building, and had recently leased a building in Gulfport.

EX-ATLANTAN SUICIDE
AT MIAMI RESIDENCE

MIAMI, Fla., April 24.—(AP)—James Jones, 38, formerly of Atlanta, was shot and killed in the yard of his home here today. A shotgun was found beside his body, and Constable R. B. Chastain called the death a suicide.

The body was found by the man's father, W. E. Jones, who said his son had suffered from asthma so severely that he had been forced to resign from his job as a store clerk last Christmas.

Survivors include the man's widow, Mrs. Gertrude Jones, and three children. The body will be sent to Decatur, Ga., for burial.

DAILY SHORT STORY
BACK TALK

Mary Ellen's Pert Answers to a Traffic Cop's Questions Made a Host of Complications.

By CHARLES SLOAN REID.

Mary Ellen's attention was divided between the road in front of her and the little mirror at the top of the windshield, which gave her a clear view of the road behind her. The speedometer showed 65. She noted with amusement that the traffic cop was catching up to her on his motorcycle.

"As if I couldn't out-talk a country traffic cop!" she mused.

But now the cop was alongside holding the handle bar of his motor cycle with his left hand he laid his right upon the door of Mary Ellen's car, timing the speed of his machine with that of the other car.

"Young lady, you are driving too fast," he declared. "The limit on this highway is 45 miles. And this is the third time I have seen you doing 65 or better. I am not going to make a case against you this time; but I want to warn you that the next time I catch you, I shall."

Mary Ellen had slowed her car down by this time. "Oh, you would!" she stopped the car.

The cop, otherwise Howard Vaughn, also stopped and came to his feet. "I surely would," he declared. "It might save you from a charge of something a lot worse than speeding."

"What, for instance?"

"Why, murder, for one thing."

"Oh! So you think I would murder somebody?"

"Not intentionally, of course. But you would take the chance of killing your car kill somebody, perhaps your self."

"How awful!"

"All right; say what you please and do as you like. I am giving you fair warning. Now you may drive on up to 45."

"Thank you, nice big country boy. Maybe we'll meet again."

It was during the following week that Mary Ellen passed that way again. She saw in the distance her country cop standing beside his motorcycle at the edge of the road. She was making 50 and quickly speeded up to 70 as she passed Vaughn with a smile.

The cop leaped astride his machine and gave chase.

"Just let him try to arrest me!" said Mary Ellen to herself. "I'll put him through a host of complications."

"Have you any most satisfactory reasons?"

"Quite satisfactory. And now will you drive your car along peacefully and slowly down to the justice's office as my prisoner, while I pace you on my motorcycle? Or shall I have to start manhandling?"

Mary Ellen considered, her face very red. "All right," she conceded presently. "Lead on."

"Don't try any smart tricks," warned the cop.

"I have no fears, big boy! But I am telling you, I shall present your paper-mache justice of the peace with a red-hot parcel of the righteous overflow of my cerebral functioning."

The cop's gaze fastened upon her eyes. He smiled, and said:

"My dear young lady, I must assume that you are a most extraordinary facility with the vocabulary of the king's English will neither intimidate the court nor induce the most inflexible class in the order of its proceedings."

Mary Ellen's jaw dropped. "Well, come on. Let's have it out with."

The magistrate said $2.75. Mary Ellen paid the fine, then walked out. Vaughn accompanied her in silence, until she had reached the opposite side of her car.

Howard Vaughn caught Mary Ellen in his arms, held her tight and kissed her. She struggled for a moment, then relaxed in his clasp.

"And this may be only the first installment," he said. "I am going to be on this highway job until arrangements can be completed for my establishment in the insurance business in town; and I am going to see that you don't get hurt with your own car if it costs you a thousand dollars to the magistrate, and a thousand penalties to me for talking back to a cop. I am irrevocably in love with you now."

Mary Ellen slid under the steering wheel into her car, sat for a moment in silent contemplation of the road before her, then said:

"The girl was clearly scared by this time and nervously she brought her car to a standstill."

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" she asked.

"I am going to put you under arrest. In fact, I'm arresting you now."

"Wonderful! And where do you propose to take me?"

"To the magistrate's. His office is just down the highway here about a mile. Office open at all hours."

"And if I decline to accompany you?"

"I'll have to manhandle you, seat you across my handlebars and take you there. You see, young lady, it is for your good and the public safety not that I shall enjoy doing it. The law doesn't want you to hurt somebody; and—and you are just too beautiful yourself to have that face of yours all criss-crossed with gasps from a broken windshield."

"Smarty!" exclaimed Mary Ellen.

"Where Do You Propose to Take Me?"

him where he belongs in a few well-chosen words, the handsome country bumpkin!"

When Vaughn came alongside of Mary Ellen's car he commanded her to stop.

"Better stop me!" she shouted.

"I will!" Vaughn began crowding Mary Ellen's far toward the shoulder of the road.

"Why, you—you fool!" she cried, now in genuine alarm.

"All right, slow down or you will have one of two things to do—go into the woods or run me down if you can."

The girl was clearly scared by this time and nervously she brought her car to a standstill.

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" she asked.

"I am going to put you under arrest. In fact, I'm arresting you now."

"Smarty!" exclaimed Mary Ellen.

"Why should any possible accident to my car concern you?"

"I don't know why. But it does very much."

"You surely do not know who I am?"

"Oh, yes, I do. You are Miss Crawley. But the richer they are, sometimes, the less sense."

"Yes, awful brute! The law, you know, sometimes has to use brutish means."

"Have you any most satisfactory reasons?"

"Quite satisfactory. And now will you drive your car along peacefully and slowly down to the justice's office as my prisoner, while I pace you on my motorcycle? Or shall I have to start manhandling?"

Mary Ellen considered, her face very red. "All right," she conceded presently. "Lead on."

I am irrevocably in love with you now."

Mary Ellen slid under the steering wheel into her car, sat for a moment in silent contemplation of the road before her, then said:

"The girl was clearly scared by this time and nervously she brought her car to a standstill."

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" she asked.

"I am going to put you under arrest. In fact, I'm arresting you now."

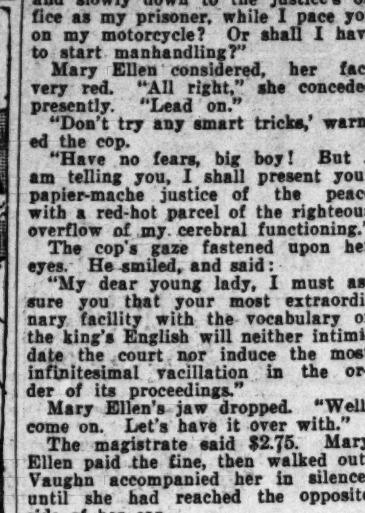

"Wonderful! And where do you propose to take me?"

"To the magistrate's. His office is just down the highway here about a mile. Office open at all hours."

"And if I decline to accompany you?"

"I'll have to manhandle you, seat you across my handlebars and take you there. You see, young lady, it is for your good and the public safety not that I shall enjoy doing it. The law doesn't want you to hurt somebody; and—and you are just too beautiful yourself to have that face of yours all criss-crossed with gasps from a broken windshield."

"Smarty!" exclaimed Mary Ellen.

"Where Do You Propose to Take Me?"

him where he belongs in a few well-chosen words, the handsome country bumpkin!"

When Vaughn came alongside of Mary Ellen's car he commanded her to stop.

"Better stop me!" she shouted.

"I will!" Vaughn began crowding Mary Ellen's far toward the shoulder of the road.

"Why, you—you fool!" she cried, now in genuine alarm.

"All right, slow down or you will have one of two things to do—go into the woods or run me down if you can."

The girl was clearly scared by this time and nervously she brought her car to a standstill.

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" she asked.

"I am going to put you under arrest. In fact, I'm arresting you now."
